Examination of Stayton's Books Shows Discrepancies

Assistant Postmaster Stayton, who was arrested the other day on a serious charge, may have to face still more serious charges, as it is intimated from the authorities that the examination of the young man's books in the office do not show anything in his favor, and, as a matter of fact, make things look rather bad for him.
He is now out on bond of $1000. His many friends in the city were astonished at his arrest, as he always bore an excellent name, and it is expected that more surprising developments will come.

CITY COUNCIL LISTENS TO MINUTES

The City Council met this afternoon and started in with reading up the minutes of a large number of meetings that have been held since city government was established. There was no excitement to mar the pleasure of the session and the usual adjournment was taken.

The situation with regard to the burning questions raised is absolutely unchanged. County Attorney Cathcart is still making an investigation to ascertain in which form the questions can be brought before the courts for an early decision, but has reached no conclusion on this point as yet.

Mayor Fern today received a letter from the American Consular Service at Victoria, addressed to "His Worship, the Mayor of Honolulu" and another from the Mayor of Topeka, both containing New Year's greetings.

Consider Wills

Consider the advisability of making out a will NOW. Think of the necessity of leaving an "iron-bound" will—one that not even the cleverest lawyer can smash.

Our business is to draw up wills in proper legal form. We do it free of charge, if made one of the executors.

H. P. BALDWIN IS SERIOUSLY SICK

H. P. BALDWIN

H. P. Baldwin is seriously ill with appendicitis. A wireless was received from Maui this morning, telling of his serious condition and calling for a surgeon. Within a short space of time the Inter-island steamer Helene, specially chartered for the purpose, steamed out of the harbor, carrying Dr. Judd to Kahului.

The wireless did not state how serious Mr. Baldwin's condition is, but Dr. Judd went prepared to perform an operation, should such a thing be necessary.

Just as soon as the message, telling of Mr. Baldwin's illness, was received, the Inter-island offices were communicated with. Preparations were at once made to put the Helene to sea, and by the time the physician reached the wharf the ship was ready.

As quickly as Dr. Judd got on board the Helene cast off her shore lines, and a few minutes later she was fighting her way out of the channel in the teeth of the kona storm that threw clouds of spray over her.

Considerable worry is felt regarding Mr. Baldwin's condition. His age makes his trouble more serious than it would be for a younger man, and a report from Dr. Judd is being anxiously awaited.

WIRELESS STATION CARRIED AWAY?

The wireless station at Puako, Hawaii, may have been carried away by the sea. At 12 o'clock today a message was received from there, stating that water covered the floor of the operator's room to a depth of two feet. Since then nothing has been heard and Kahuku has been unable to get any reply from Hawaii.

The station at Puako is located just above high water mark, and heavy winds drove the sea in without difficulty. Should the Puako station be carried away, it will mean a loss of nearly $5000 to the company, says General Manager Balch.

WAYSON AGGRESSOR, SAY ATCHERLEYS

Doctor Thinks Wayson Is After Secret And Shoots

Another exciting chapter was added to the history of the great Wallace cure last Sunday morning at about 2 o'clock, when Dr. Atcherley, who inherited the Wallace secret, shot full of holes the house occupied by Dr. Wayson, whom Atcherley suspected of having tried to steal his secret.

Bicycle Potrothman Manley Anderson heard several shots fired, and after going to the Atcherley house on Beretania street, he found Dr. Atcherley crouching outside the house with a 32-caliber revolver. Dr. Wayson, who

WORK of GOVERNOR IN CAPITOL CITY

SOME CHANGES IN AMENDMENTS TO ORGANIC ACT, WHICH ACT FOR BETTERMENT OF TERRITORY — USELESS TO INTRODUCE IMMIGRATION BILL THIS SESSION—COMMISSION

Acting Governor Mott-Smith has received several interesting letters from Governor Frear. The first one, dated December 21, states that the Federal appropriation for leprosy can be used for the investigation and research work on the island of Oahu, but cannot be expended in constructing a building for a laboratory.

In the Governor's amendments to the Organic Act he refers to a certain Commission's report in relation to the exclusion of certain Federal statutes from applying to Hawaii. The Commission's report section has now been changed to read the "Sections from the Revised Statutes," which recite in detail the different provisions which are mentioned. This Act has been already submitted, but since the hearing the Governor has suggested another amendment with relation to the publication of the notices of land sales, to the effect that notice of sales must be published in a newspaper thirty days before the sale. Public notice is all that is required at the present time.
